EQUAL PAY STATEMENT

As an equal opportunities employer, Glasgow Clyde College recognises the importance of equality and valuing diversity and as such is committed to ensuring that all staff are treated equitably regardless of their age, race (including nationality, ethnic or national origin), disability, sexual orientation, gender (including staff who have undergone gender re-assignment), marital/civil partnership status, parental status, religion or belief (or lack of religion or belief).

In line with our commitment to achieve equal opportunities for all staff, the College supports the principle that all employees should receive equal pay for work of equal value and aims to eliminate any bias in our reward systems.

The College recognises that in order to achieve equal pay for employees carrying out equal work we should operate a pay system which is transparent, based on objective criteria and free from unlawful bias on any grounds, including gender. This is a fundamental principle which is central to College policy on equality and diversity and pay related policies and practices. We use an analytical job evaluation system to assess the relative value of all jobs across our organisation which provides evidence in support of the allocation of each job within our pay grading structure.

Our Objectives

- To ensure there are no unfair, unjust or unlawful practices that impact on reward
- Where any inequality may arise, investigate promptly and take appropriate remedial action where required.

Action to Implement Policy

In order to put our commitment to equal pay into practice we will:

- Regularly review our reward policy and practice to identify any trends or anomalies which will be investigated and resolved
- Carry out regular monitoring of the impact of the College's pay practices
- Provide training and guidance for those involved in making decisions about pay
- Respond to grievances on equal pay as a priority
- Continue to work in partnership with the recognised Trade Unions on the actions and implementation of this policy.

It is the Colleges intention, through implementing the above actions, to avoid unfair discrimination and to reward fairly the skills, experience and potential of all staff.

The Gender Pay Gap Duty requires public authorities with 20 or more employees to publish a Gender Pay gap figure - which is the percentage difference between men's and women's average hourly pay, excluding overtime. The new duties as of April 2017 require public bodies to include race and disability considerations alongside gender in their equal pay statement along with Occupational Segregation evidence. The College acknowledge that whilst it is our specific duty to include this information, we are unable to anonymously and meaningfully report on the protected characteristics of race and disability due to the lack of data we currently hold in relation to each of them.

The College recognises that the collection and analysis of equality data is central to understanding and subsequently developing action plans to tackle occupational segregation and are taking steps to ensure that we are in a position to be able to do this going forward. An action plan has been included within our Equal Pay Report and the data in relation to race and disability will be published in April 2018.
